To Whom It May Concern

I am pleased to be writing a letter of recommendation today for Vincent Nguyen because I believe that he is someone truly deserving of such praise. Anyone who works with Vincent quickly realizes that he is very intelligent, hard working and a genuine individual; showing integrity in all areas of his life.

Vincent worked at Beachbody over the summer as an intern and we worked closely together on a number of streaming video player projects. During this time, Vincent become very familiar with our technology and policies, quickly becoming an integral part of our team.

Vincent went above and beyond a standard internship role, establishing himself as a strong part of our team for number of reasons, but primarily because he possesses two positive traits which I believe were key to his success here at Beachbody. He has a deep desire to continually learn and improve his techniques. He also has a strong inclination to find the best way to accomplish something within the constraints of the project, not just the fastest way.

What I love is that when he's not working on something at work or school, he's at home learning about different languages or tools that he can use to sharpen his skills. He is also adept in finding multiple solutions and recommending them, even in cases where the consensus is already leaning heavily in another direction.

Vincent is a very affable person who maintains an open attitude regarding feedback and collaboration, leaving ego out of the equation. When something seems off, he often challenges the status quo and offers other solutions. He will undoubtedly be an asset wherever he works.

I sincerely hope that you take these thoughts to heart while considering Vincent for this role. If I can be of further assistance, please feel free to contact me at 818-879-3335 or via email at dgatza@beachbody.com.

Sincerely,
